About me:

I'm a freelance writer, who loves developing ideas into engaging written work (scripts/copy/content).

Given the opportunity, I bring an open-minded attitude that shows a willingness to adapt, handling people and projects with integrity and respect. While I thrive on collaboration, I can certainly work independently as well.

As a teacher, I bring creativity and understanding to the classroom.

My marketing mindset is: Facts tell. Stories sell.

I research, conceptualize and write narrative-driven ads to best fit your platform, using story, character, and emotion to optimize audience investment.

Write it right.
