EMPLOYMENT HISTORY

Staff Writer

Imani Media Group | 2021 - Present

Using a participative leadership style, I oversee a team of writers in the development of a dramatic television series for a Black-owned production company, including the review and editing of drafts and establishing a feedback loop with producers throughout the creative process.

Public Sector Sales Representative

Waste Management | 2018 - Present

Using a consultative sales approach, I manage community relations for several existing city contracts as a company representative for local officials, community stakeholders, and associated businesses in San Gabriel Valley. Through various media and marketing channels, I coordinate and disseminate publicity and good-will information concerning state laws on recycling and the company.

Writers' Room Assistant

Marvel Television | 2016 - 2018

As the Writers' PA for "Marvel's Runaways" and several other television series, my duties included collating and copyediting scripts, stocking the office with food and supplies, and filling in for the writers' assistant.
