Holding a degree in Dramatic Arts, Jaime Falero is a film director, screenwriter, and executive producer whose work has reached international markets through three feature films across different genres, as well as other audiovisual formats.

His films — EL CLAN, PROJECT 12: THE BUNKER, and RON HOPPER'S MISFORTUNE — were privately financed in Tenerife and have been acquired and distributed by companies such as Netflix, Sony Pictures, Prime Video, Starz, FOX, and Vision Films in the United States and worldwide. He has directed acclaimed actors including BAFTA Award winner James Cosmo (Braveheart, Game of Thrones), Goya Award winner Maribel Verdú, Academy Award nominee Eric Roberts, Goya Award winner José Sancho, Ariel Award nominee Carlos Bardem, and British star Vinnie Jones. Falero is currently developing three feature film projects for the 2026–2027 production slate.

A wide-angle shot of a modern, dark theater interior. The room is dimly lit, with recessed ceiling lights and a wall of dark, geometric acoustic panels. Rows of black leather seats with armrests are arranged in a tiered fashion, facing a stage area. The overall atmosphere is sophisticated and contemporary.
